THE Legislative Council has week by week been postponing the consideration of the now tramway route to the Peak in the hope. perhaps, that some evidence might be forth. coming of the public interest in the matter. intendent of the Botanical and Forestry Department, has been published strongly of the Privy Council vice Prince Yamagata. protesting against the new tramway being carried through the Public Gardens, by means of a wide cutting. Four alternative. routes were orginally suggested, viz (1) a tunnel under the Gardens; (2) a line on the surface of Glenealy Ravine; (3) a line on high trestles in the Ravine; and (4) a wide cutting through the western end of the old Public Gardens. At the annual meeting of shareholders of the Peak Tramways Company on Saturday the Chairman mentioned that the Directors had from the first objected to the tunnel route because of the enormous outlay involved. To Route No. 2 the objections are so obvious that it does not appear to have been seriously advocated. The Roman Catholic community has strong. ly objected to the third proposal because of guilty. the noise which would be created by trams running over high iron trestles so near to their principal place of worship, and in this objection they have been unanimously supported by the Works Committee of the Legislative Council who have recommended the Council to refuse approval of this proposal. With the same unanimity, however, they recommended that Proposal No. (the open cutting through the Public Gardens) " is the best, and should be adopted, the damage done to the Gardens committee.

not being, in the opinion of the Committee so serious as to justify its rejection." Now, two months after the submission of this Report, the Superintendent of the Botannical and Forestry Department, has been required by the Government to state his views on the proposal. That this official would be strongly opposed to the idea of a trauline running through any portion of the Public Gardens was a foregone conclusion, and the value of the Minute which Mr. Dunn has submitted consists in the arguments on which his protest is based. The proposal now under the consideration of the Government means the sacrifice of 50,000 square feet of garden space and the destruction of "one of the best collections of palms and other trees in the world," not one of which, we are told, can be transplanted, in consequence of their Bournemouth. size and age, and even if their removal were possible there would be no space available for their reception. That is a strong argument from the point of view of the botanist, and while the public may not be able to estimate the collection which is menaced at its proper scientific value, they are well able to appreciate its exceptional beauty and would greatly regret its destruction. The question therefore is briefly this: Would the public utility of the proposed line fully compensate for the sacrifice of public garden space and the destruction of the rare collection of palms and shrubs it involves? In the opinion of the Works Committee there is "great need for additional facilities for reaching the High Levels and the Hill District" and we think that fact will be generally admitted. If it were not so patent, the new tramway would never have been proposed, for when mon put their money into an enterprise they do so with some confidence of seeing an early return on the capital invested. Either the need for these increased facilities for reaching the higher levels has to be ignored by the Gevernment or approval must be given (1) to the cutting through the gardens; or (2) to carrying the line on trestles up the ravine,—a proposal which, in consequence of the opposition it has evoked from the Roman Catholic community, the Works Committee has recommended the Council to reject. There is no other practicable route to the Peak with the same prospect of the enterprise proving remunerative, and the rejection of both these proposals would therefore mean the abandon. mont of the undertaking, since the tunnel scheme appears to be regarded by the Directors of the Company as quite out of the question.

The directors of the A. Butler Cement Works Limited, at the annual meeting, which is to be held on 7th June, will recommend a dividend of

The following announcements will probably be of interest to a good many people in the East :- On July 12 Mr. H. M. S. A Peking telegram states that Sanmum, or San Moon Bay is to be made China's largest Shanghai Mercury, is twenty miles W.N.W. of he Hieshan Islands. It is readily recognised y a remarkable thumb peak, 800 feet above the sea, called by the Chinese Tafon and by foreigners Albert Peak; it rises from the northern end of Tafou Island on the northern side of the bay. There is good shelter in the N.E. Monsoon immediately westward of Leaming Island, which forms the north point of the entrance to the bay. The bottom is of soft mud, About S.W., two and a half miles from Leaming is Sanchesan or Triple I land, and the doubt between them is ten and eleven fathoms. West, six miles from Lea-ming is a conical islet. named Cone Island, with a reef off its south end; N. W. by N. six cables from Cone Island is a small islet with a rock off its south-east face. At four miles westward of Cone is a small islet. Having passed southward of Cone, St. George Island will be seem bearing N. W. by N. four miles; the water shoals gradually as this island approached, and the anchorage is three fathoms at half a mile south of it. It is secure in N. E. winds. There is another bay northward of St. George which is shoul and full of rocks. At the anchorage under St. George Island, San-mun bay, it is high water, full and change, at 10h. 20m.; and the springs rise about fifteen feet. Judging from the chart, San-mun Bay appears a very poor naval port.

DISORDERLY GERMAN SAILORS.

It was fortunate for the police concerned that the riotous behaviour of four German sailors at Kowloon on Sunday did not have more serious results. The seamen, who are to proceed north by the transport Oldenberg, hailed-a-sampan at Tsimchatsoi to take them on board their vessel. As soon as all were aboard the Chinese craft, however, they wanted to take charge, and because the natives objected to their interference they were assaulted. A police whistle blew, and brought Detective-Sergeant Wilden, Sergeant Caygill, Lance-Sergeant Edwards and Constable Adams to the assistance of the boat people. When the police arrived on the scene two of the seamen drew knives. One of the armed men made a rush at Lance-Sergeant Edwards, but his jab missed its mark. Unfortunately for Sergeant Wilden, who was rushed by the other German, the aim proved true, and hand. In the end, the police overpowered the truculent sailors, and they were charged, before Mr. J. H. Kemp at the Magistracy yesterday with assaulting the crew of the sampan, assaultmanner. As no objections were raised by the police, the men were handed over to the German Authorities to be dealt with.

POPE AS MOTORIST.

MILLIONAIRE'S GIFT.

A magnificent motor-car, destined to be present to his Holiness the Pope from an American millionaire, said in some quarters to be Mr. Pierpont Morgan, was recently sent from Turin to the Vatican. The car has been wholly constructed at Turin, and is designed for the Pope's use in the gardens of the Vatican Palace. Its cost is about £1,500. It has a 30 h.-p. motor and is fitted inside and outside with electric lamps and signalling bells. The Papal arms are prominently emblazoned on the doors. The interior of the vehicle is richly decoratwhite velvet with lace borders. On the right-hand side hangs a beautiful large type breviary with clasps of gold, so that the Pontiff may recite the Divine Office while the knife passed through the palm of his speeding along in his automobile. On the left is placed a massive gold medallion of St. Joseph. The American millionaire has secured the services of the world-renowed Italian champion racer, Signor Cagno, formerly chauffeur to the Dowager Queen Margherita. Cagno will exhibit the capacities of the machine to the Pope and will take his Holiness for his first motor rides, remaining at the Vatican to train the Pope's first chauffeur. The cost of the upkeep of the Pope's car will be comparatively small, owing to the enviable total exemption from taxation which he enjoys through the generosity of the Italian Government.

THE-MONSOON FORECAST.

ABNORMAL FEATURES OF THE CURPENT

The forecast of the monsoon which will be issued as usual by the Meteorological department next month should be an unusually interesting one, says the Pioneer. The belated cold weather storms which swept across Upper India in April, giving heavy rain in certain -rarts of the plains and snow on the Himalayanranges, must have had some effect in disturbing what are technically known as the normal conditions of the early summer. Further, there has lately been unusual rain in Burma and North-East India, and strong moisture-laden currents have appeared in the southern part of the Peninsula. When the rainfall of May comes to be made up it will probably be found to be in excess, and it is just possible that the true monsoon may make an early appearance at Colombo. The current summer has undoubtedly abnormal features, but how long these will continue even meteorogical experts must be at a loss to say. In the days when the snowfall theory was in the ascendant there would have been prophecies of a late monsoon but the uncertainty that has attached to all forecasts of late years makes prediction of any kind a matter of guess work. A month hence the Meteorological department may be in a better position to reach some guarded conclusions, as by that time the reports from Ceylon will have shown whether the moonsoon winds have set steadily towards India,

FOREIGN INSURANCE OFFICES IN JAPAN.

Now that the Government proposes to revise the rules regulating native concerns, instituting, however, more Same as No. 1. rigorous strictures in consequence of recent disclosures, the opportunity will also taken to establish rules controlling foreign offices, with a view to bringing them more in line with Jananese companies.

LAWN TENNIS.

HONGKONG v. KOWLOON.

The annual match between Hongkong and Kowloon after many delays was played off yesterday afternoon on the King's Park in ideal tennis weather. There was a good attendance to witness the play and it is satisfactory note that the spectators were not appointed. The exhibition of tennis was of a very high standard. On this occasion Kow. loon showed up better than on previous meetings, the score being 106 games for Hongkong, and 86 for Kowloon.

Hongkong was represented by Pinckney and Carr, Harris and Aubrey, King and Hutcheson. and Sutherland and Pemberton, while the following did duty for Kowlcon: Klimanek and Lapsley, Edwards and Fowler, Clelland and Weaser, and Mead and Green. The umpires were Messrs. Fittock, MacKenzie, Menagh

The light was all that could be desired but the wind proved a disconcerting factor. It robbed volleying of its value, and as it came over the sheets it added uncertainties to the course of the balls. Victory went to the pairs who played the net game, the difficulties mentioned operating against those who attempted to keep the balls high. The courts, it should be added. were in splendid condition.

Carr and Pinckney carried off the honours for the visitors. Carr played perfect tennis but his companion made several mistakes. Carr, on the other hand, never missed a shot. Harris and Aubrey also played well for Hongkong. Klimanek and Lapsley, with three wins to their crodit, did most for Kowloon, while Fowler and Edwards, after losing the first two matches, steadied themselves and played finely in the next two. Mead and Green also did well, winning from Sutherland and Pember. ton and drawing with Hutcheson and King, sent by the Fram will be that sent from The scores are as under:

ANHUI COPPER MINE TROUBLE.

REQUEST TO CANCEL SIR LISTER KAYE'S CONCESSION.

The Peking Daily News publishes the following translation of the joint petition, presented by the gentry of Anhui, concerning the copper-mining concession within the jurisdiction of the province of Anhui:

It is understood that an Agreement (under date of the 20th day of the 4th Moon of the 35th year of Kuanghsu) for the opening of copper-mines in the province of Anhui has been made and concluded in Peking between a British merchant known as Sir John Kaye (?) and the Board of Foreign Affairs.

Article IV. of the said Agreement states ver, clearly that before the scheme is being carried into operation, the party agrees to submit plans and specifications and provide necessary funds for the purchase of lands around the mining district, whereas Article V: of the same Agreement also points out very unmistakably that the Agreement is meant to be put into force within twelve months of its

In view of the fact that the party has now violated these two provisions of the Agreement, due steps have since then been taken up by the Board of Foreign Affairs to adjust the matter.

We note, however, that recently a foreigner named (4) bearing pretentiously the name of a tourist, has secretly occupied the hill. He has lawlessly caused the grave-yards in its vicinity to be removed and the construction and widening of the roads are rapidly in progress. Further-more, various machines, pertaining to the opening of the mines, are now ready on hand and worst than all, the party is apt to introduce all sorts of indecent amusements thereby attracting the natives to work in the mines.

The party, despite the repeated warnings of the Board of Foreign Affairs, has actually carried on the enterprise without any sanction from the Central Government and we, the gentry of Anhui, acting with a view to protecting China's Sovereign rights and the interests of our people, hereby jointly petition to Your Excellency, the Viceroy of Liangkiang that the Board shall be duly notified and that some measure must, in someway, be taken to prevent further developments of such rash acts.

As we learnt that the said British merchant would be in Peking in the near future to negotiate regarding the matter, we have now arranged to send several representatives and delegates, who are now on the way to Peking, to present their side of the question for fair settlement of the case.

It is our sincere hope that the Board shall never yield to the wishes of the merchant or sanction the further renewal of the Agreement. We also request the Board of Agriculture, Industry and Commerce to cancel the passport issued to the tourist (?) so as to avoid further trouble in the case and that the concession be handed over to the gentry for management.

A BIG MEDICAL SCHEME.

SUGGESTED MANUFACTORY OF SERUM FOR

We understand, says the Times of Ceylon, that, in view of the great extension of the system of guarding against disease by inoculation, the question of establishing a munufactory in Colombo at which the various sera now in use could be made has been mooted. Questioned on the matter, Sir Allan Perry said It is quite true that the subject has been broached, but as yet it is very much in the air, and no proposals have been sent into Government. It is felt that it would be very convenient to have all the sera we require. such as for enteric, diphtheria, etc., and cattle diseases, such as rinderpest, manufactured in the island. The new Bacteriological Assistant who came out lately is accustomed to that work and he is at present paying considerable attention to the manufacture of a vaccine for small-pox, and there has been a great improvement in it since he came. However, a station for the manufacture of sera would be a very large scheme. Cold storage accommodation with enormous engines and machinery would be required, so that in any case a long time is bound to clapse before the idea materialises. I may say that they have such a station in the Philippines, erected at a

ARCTIC EXPLORATION.

AMUNDSEN'S NEXT VOYAGE

On January 2, 1910, Roald Amundson will sail on the Fram on his next voyage to the Arctic regions ; the crew has been chosen. The Norwegian Government is supplying all the firearms and weapons needed, and the Carnegie Institute is giving the magnetic instruments. American hogs will be taken on board, as they can stand the Arctic climate very well; thus the expedition will have a good supply of fresh meat. The Fram is expected to arrive at San Francisco next June, and she will stay there until a suitable opening can found in the ice. The last news to be Point Barrow, the most northerly point in North America, and the expedition will sail from Point Barrow in August, 1910. Amundson will not have wireless telegraphy on board, as the cost of the apparatus is so great. A motor engine of 200 horse-power will enable the Fram to attain a higher rate of speed, and will also supply the vessel with electric light. The Fram will carry several kites of the best models. Amundsen hopes that he will be able to reach open water between Spitzbergen and and Greenland in the summer either of 1914 or 1915, in the region in which the Polar Stream passes along the east coast of Greenland

The estimate The meeting between these clubs on Saturday is under the mark. Karachi expects, when the irrigation works in the Punjab and Sind are finished and developed, to export in good years three million ton's of wheat. The answer to the question how this produce is to be moved is surely contained in the investigation of the Committee which has been studying the questions of wheat elevators in India. The obvious solution of the traffic problem is to follow the course of all great wheat exporting countries. and adopt scientific methods to distribute the export over the year so as to economise transport and be in a position to take advantage of the market. The telegram from our Tokyo correspondent a few days ago, announcing that the Directors of the Nippen Yusen Kaisha had declared a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent for the halfy-ear. ended March 31st, is an effective contradiction of the rumours which have recently been appearing in the Japanese Press suggesting that the Company had lost heavily, and would be unable to pay the usual dividend. Mr. Kato, the Vice-President of the Company, in a recent interview said the Company did not escape the wave of depression which overtook all those engaged in the maritime carrying, trade during last year. But fortunately the Directors had fully foreseen this state of affairs, and had made provision against it by large reductions in the staff, by abolishing several branches and sub-branches, by giving up services that did not pay, and by various other savings, especially in the matter of coal. By these various precautions a difference of about 1,700,000 yen resulted in the Company's outlays; and thus, though the income for the half-year under review fell off by some 2 million yen, the not issue was a profit of over one million, so that the Company will be able to pay a dividend of 10 per cent, without taking so much as a cash from the Reserve for the Equalization of dividends.

With reference to the Japanese maritime carrying trade in general, the Shogyo Shimpo ("Commercial News") observes that it cannot be safely alleged that the sun of prosperity has dawned again. There has certainly been an access of activity in shipping circles, but that is a normal feature at this time of year, and it is not improbable that when the carriage of beans and salt has come to an end, the old state of depression will recur. Our contemporary estimates that when ships undergoing repairs are deducted the total tomage of; vessels laid up for lack of freight is about 25,000.

In anticipation of the development of Ningpo, a new steamship line is to be established between Shanghai and Ningpo. It will be purely a Chinese enterprise. The promoters have already secured one of the steamers which was built not long ago at Foothow for Messrs. Racine, Ackermann and Co., but which was thrown back on the hands of the builders in consequence of the delay which took place in the completion of the vessel. Pontoons are being constructed in Shanghai for the new Company's wharf in Ningpo, and it is confidently expected that the enterprise will be a huge success financially. The capital invested is Tls. 1,500,000. Mr. Hell, formerly chief pilot of the s.s. Lita, recently went to Foschow to take command of the new steamer and take her to Shanghui.

For the second time the Philippine Assembly has killed the Commission Bill providing for the appointment of a Shipping Commissioner for the port of Manila. This is a very important measure that the Commission has been very anxious to get approved in order to put a stop | La. to numerous complaints on the part of seamen of injustices they were exposed to. The Bill was also strongly supported by the shipping firms and its passage was requested by nearly every prominent shipping concern in the islands, the companies so desiring being the owners some 239 yessels with a gross tennage of approximately 45,580 tons. Among the provisions of the Bill were the adjudication of wage disputes and the relief distressed seamen and the settlement of their estates. It also covered cases of desertion and provided a penalty of a fine of not exceeding a 200 Pesos or imprisonment of not exceeding one year for each offense.

The Foreign Office has been informed of this decision by His Majesty's Ambassador at St. Petersburg, and that the Court has declared that the sinkingof the vessel was illegal, and the confiscation been declared to be contraband. The Princesse Marie when destroyed was bound from Manchester to Chinese ports, and was a steamer of 5,416 tons, built in 1902. INDIAN CIGARS.

The Indian Cigar industry is an expanding one, for our manufactures are now exported to all parts of the world. Unfortunately, our cigar manufacturers do not always observe the essential requisites for the further extension of the industry. Indian-grown tobaccos are used as "fillers," and it is in the quality of this that they full short. For wrappers they use imported leaf, which may either be Sumatra or Java, and with these very little fault can be found; but i is the grading of the Indian growths, used for fillers, that is neglected, and herein lies the seceret of success of the foreign-made cigar. Every eigar in a 10 -box of "Dutch Havanas or Manilas, or any other, is of the same quality throughout. Not so the Indian-made cigar. Even in the highest-priced cigars the grading the same. It is this which makes Indian cigars unpopular abroad. If our large European cigar-manufacturing firms would only adopt the methods of the "Dutch Havana" manufacturers, they would soon supplant all other makes; not only in India, but in those countries to which their cigars are exported. Since the opening of the market on the 11th instant a fair inquiry has existed, but business cannot be said to be general, as so large a percentage of it is, for the time being, in the hands of two or three important Russian buyers. The Chairman said :-We recommend a dividend of 8 per cent., the same as last year. I regret, however, that you have had to wait for this instead of receiving a portion by way of interim dividend after the usual half yearly balance, as heretofore but at that time we had a heavy overdraft with our Bankers. You will see from the account that at the end of the year we had worked to a credit; however, at the moment we are again overdrawn. The fact is with a growing business

SHAREHOLDER'S LIABILITIES.

INTERESTING QUESTIONS IN COMPANY LAW.

A correspondent writes to the Ceylon Observer as follows:-Could you or any of your readers kindly give some information on the following points PI have noticed recently that shareholders have in one case at least thrown up their part paid shares in a limited company in order to get rid of the obligation to pay up any further calls made in respect of those shares. I should like to know if the Ceylon Limited Companies Act allows this to be done; or is it done only by permission of the board of directors, who may think it useless or not worth while taking legal steps to secure payment of those calls P Also, in like manner, can a director of a limited company throw up-or sell his shares and resign, say, at a critical mement in order to get rid of responsibility incurred by the board he is a member of (i.e., by himself)? I ask this, as gather from what I have heard said on this subject that it is considered by some both possible and permissible. I believe that in the U.K. a director is liable, for a number of years after he resigns, for his actions; and I do not think that either of the acts I have mentioned could. take place there, out I should like to be informed through the medium of your valuable paper, as I reside where such information is not to be obtained. Hoping is is permissible to ask for information on the points raised.

To this our contemporary replies :- We have sought the opinion of the Hon. Mr. Arunachalam, registrar of joint stock companies in Ceylon, who is thoroughly intimate with the Ceylon law on the subject; and he courteously assures us that a member cannot by throwing up partly paid shares of a limited liability company get rid of his liability. Every present and past member is liable to contribute to the assets of the company up to the amount unpaid on his shares with the following (among other) qualifications :-

No past member is liable if he has reased to be a member for a year before the winding up, nor is he liable for any debt contracted by the Company after he has ceased to be a member, nor unless present members are unable to satisfy the contributions required.

Much less can a director shuffle off his common law and statutory liability by resignation.

HUMAN STUPIDITY."

INDICTMENT OF COLONIAL OFFICERS.

"It is no longer a battle against malaria. Malaria we know, we understand fully, we can beat down when we please. The battle which we are now fighting is against human stupidity." This striking passage formed the climax to an extraordinary denunciation of officialism, made by Major Rouald Ross, in a lecture on "The. Campaign against Malaria." delivered recently before the members of the Royal Institution. Major Ronald Ross was one of the winners of the Nobel prize, and was formerly the first director of the initial school of tropical medicine

"As a rule," he said, "Colonial Governments are far too careless in the selection of the men to whom they entrust the health of the public. At home no one may be the medical officer even of an English village without possessing a proper diploma, but in the Colonies it appears that any one is good enough to be the chief, sanitary officer of a whole country.

"The most amazing appointments are often made, men of ability being passed over for selfseeking individuals. Reconstruction similar to that which revivilied the Royal Army Medical Corps, is urgently demanded.

"Many a town could be kept clear of malaria for the amount, say, of the salary of a single European official, and I estimate that a sixth of the medical and sanitary budget should generally suffice to reduce a disease which often causes half the sickness.

"Festering pools, which might have been cleared years ago for a few shillings or pounds, are left in the heart of important towns to poison all around them.

"I think that not one of those young men who have pioneered this important work in the field has ever received thanks for his labours. On the other hand, I know of several who have been actually punished for it.

"An example which I am free to mention that of my brother, Mr. H. C. Ross, who was driven from the Egyptian Sanitary Service, out of spite and jealousy, simply because he undertook such work."

THOUGHT READING WITHOUT A: CODE.

REMA' KABLE PERFO (MANCES. A really remarkable exhibition of telepathy was given recently at the Palace Theatre London before an andience consisting exclusively journalists, and so mystified—and so delighted was everybody, that Mr. Alfred Butt, the manager, immediately secured the artist. Signor Ernesto Bellini, for an engagement.

As Signor Bellini has no assistants it follows that he has no code. He asks a stranger to arrange some trick with two other persons. He then grips the stranger's left hand, having previously urged him to think of what has been arranged between the second and third individuals, and after a few moments he carries out the wishes of these persons. Several of the tasks he was set were exceedingly difficult, but all were carried out successfully

One journalist present was selected as the first medium, and through his agency Signor ellini picked half-a-dozen nuts from one gentleman's pocket, distributed them among the spectators, collected them, and replaced them in the pocket of the owner. In fulfilment of another wish lie took a rose from a man's button-hole and placed. it in the hat of a lady seated some distance away. Then two ladies were led on to the stage and asked to dance. Through another medium Signor Bellini discovered one gentleman in the stalls whom a friend had quietly suggested should go on the stage and have his boots taken

Needless to say when this merry-making started there were many imitators. One went so far as to suggest to the medium that Signor Bellini should seize the manager's silk hat and | well towards Nepal and Chinese regular solplace it on the head of a member of the audience and this was duly effected, amid loud laughter. There can be no doubt about the genuineness of this amazing performance, for all the members of the andience were known to each other but strangers to Signor Bellini.

A WHITE TIGER.

Probably very few sportsmen have come across white tiger, and the following note, therefore, will be of interest. Recently, a white tigress, 8 feet 8 inches in length (tail included), was shot in the Murhi Sub Division Forest of the Dhen. kanal State, Orissa, India.

The specimen was a good one. The ground colour was pure white, and the stripes were of a deep reddish black colour. The white colour appeared to be natural, as the tigress was in good condition and showed no sign of disease. The skin has been presented to the Raja of Dhenkanal as a curiosity. It is being mounted and will be kept in the Palace drawing room. The animal was shot over a buffalo kill. shikaries of this country say that it is the only be necessary to check these if they become too white tiger they have seen.

hands. My doctor got the blood poison out all right but, with the treatment he gave me, all the skin came off finger ends up to my albows. They were as raw as beef. I was unable to do any work for about twelve months owing to this accident. The doctor kept me under his care all these months. Hotried everything in his nower and it was not much better So at last he told me he could do no more for me and I felt very down-hearted as I thought I was not going to get better. The doctor advised me to go to a skin specialist, and so I did. When he looked at my hands he said it was a very had case. "I was under his care for a few months, but I was no better with all his treatment. I gave it up for a bad job, and I told my doctor I was getting no better. He recommended me to the ---- Infirmary to try another skin specialist. I tried his treatment for three months but found no benefit from it at all. Six years ago I thought I was not going to get a cure. One day I saw the Cuticura Remedies advertised and said I should like to give them a trial. I sent for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. After I tried them and saw that my hands were coming on first class: I persevered till I got a cure. Now my hands are all right and I am at my usual work. ROYAL PRINCE FOR INDIA

PROPOSAL TO TRAIN A PERMANENT VICEROY.

The Calcutta correspondent of the London Daily Express says:-

I am able to state on the best authority that the British Government is seriously considering the question of recommending that one of the younger sons of the Prince of Wales be trained to represent the Royal Family in India. This important change, which would of course, necessitate an alteration in the Constitution, would, it is believed, have an excellent influence on native sentiment in India.

Caste is the paramount consideration here, and natives of all classes would appreciate the appointment of a royal Prince-and the son of the future King-Emperor-to preside over the destinies of their country. He could not fail to exercise an influence much more powerful than that of the most popular Vicerov selected in the

In the event of a son of the Prince of Wales being selected as Viceroy he would receive special instruction in Indian history, literature, economies, and languages. In fact, he would be trained for some years as thoroughly and carefully, as any heir-apparent who is being prepared to succeed his father on the throne.

REGAL MAGNIFICENCE. The Prince would, of course, maintain a royal Court in great magnificence. He would be relieved of political responsibility, much as the Constitutional monarch of Great Britain is, in respect of Imperial affairs. Meanwhile the question of the appointment of Lord Minto's successor to the Viceroyalty is anxiously discussed in official circles here. The first favourite for the post is the Earl of Selborne, the present High Commissioner in South Africa, who went there with the full approval of the present home Government, to whom he has rendered loval service. Lord Dudley, the Governor-General o Australia, and Lord Carrington are both mentioned. In the case of Load Carrington, however, his health is understood to have been fur from satisfactory lately. In some quarters Lord Grey is regarded as a possible successor to Lord Minto; in consequence of his remarkable success in Canada.

The Duke of Connaught has been mentioned in connection with the post, and it is known that in high quarters his name was favourably considered for the post of Commander-in-Chief some time ago, but the incessant question of precedence between the representative of the Sovereign and a resident royal prince was I thought to be insuperable.

CHINA AND TIBET

TROOPS POURING IN.

In connection with the sending of well-drilled troops into Tibet by China, mentioned in the Times it is stated that this confirms the news which has reached India direct regarding the pouring of troops into Tibet. There is new a large garrison in Lassa while a number of outposts have been occupied. Sven Hedin noted that one post had been placed diers are in evidence all along the southern. Tibetan frontier in the eastern part of the country, where the most warlike tribes are found. The Peking Government have taken precautions to guard against any revolt. The whole of Tibet in fact has now been brought under control and the display of military force cannot but have impressed the people with a sense of their helplessness. China is effectively carrying out her policy of making Tibet an ordinary province of the Empire and the semi-independence enjoyed by the Lamas before the Younghusband Mission has now passed away. It is not yet known whether the Dalai Lama has reached Lhassa. but his return can make no difference in the political position as he is now a mere creature of the Peking Government.

It remains to be seen whether the Chinese will adopt an aggressive policy on the long stretch of frontier which marches with States under British influence. There have already been rumours of intrigues by their local officers in the direction of Bhutan and Sikkim, and it will pronounced.—Calcutta Englishman.

The general belief that when one or more senses are lacking the others become more acute has been shown to be an error by M Kunz, director of the Institution for the Blind at Mulhausen, Germany. Comparison of the blind with pupils of the same age in the public schools gave quite surprising results. There was no difference between the seeing and the blind in perceiving the direction of sound, no material difference in the distance at which sounds could be heard, but the seeing had Government on Lake Constance. A vessel of greater acuteness of smell, and a finer perception of touch as tested by the minimum distance at which two points could be distinguished as separate. The average blind, therefore, not only lack a sense but have other senses less acute than the seeing. The necessities of the blind compel them to heed slight impressions of touch and other sensations that are usually neglected by others, and this may account—in part at least, - for the mysterious way in which they avoid obstacles.

Localities in Wyoming abound in teeth and bones of fossil fish, crocodiles, lizards, etc., and paleontologists of the Geological Survey have lately decovered that these small fessil bonesnot easily found when scattered in the soil-are quite numerous among the small stones that a certain species of ant has collected in great quantities in its nest-building. On sifting these stones the fossil-hunter separates out a good supply of fish-scales, jaws, vertebrae, etc., with very little trouble. An enterprising collector even transplanted some of the ants to an antless region some miles away, and the next year he was rewarded by finding that they had built hills, in each of which they had gathered 30 or 40 teeth, etc.

Two kinds of action on plants and animals have been shown by X. rays. The concentrated rays have a destructive or paralyzing effect, but in small and oft-repeated doses they stimulate the tissues to abnormal activity and increased growth. The large doses have given rise to 11 cases of cancer in X. ray workers in England.

A pneumatic milk can is a novel device to ensure that milk reaches the consumer in the condition that it leaves the dairy. The can is filled, compressed air previously sterilized is pumped into it, and the cover is locked. On opening a value the milk is forced out as desired by the pressure of the confined air. Dust and insects cannot enter, and it is impossible to change or adulterate the contents of the can without breaking the lock and removing the Lightning is a huge electric spark following cracks in the atmosphere, is the interesting theory of Prof. A. W. Porter, an English physicist. It does not take the well-defined zigzag course in which it has been so often pictured, and its actual irregular path suggests that the air must be cracked by a blow of sufficient sharpness, like that from a powerful electrical discharge. Though cobblere' wax, like the air, is an unlikely thing to crack, it splits easily under a sudden blow.

Boiler scale is prevented, in the process of F. A. Lart, an English experimenter, by simply passing through the working boiler the moderate current of any ordinary dry or wet electrochemical primary battery. The current hastens the delosation or solids in mechanical suspension, and the precipitation of those in chemical solution, and the resulting mud contains only loose particles of the lime, magnesia or other impurities from the water. Tests are suggested to determine the working value of this process.

The mercury telescope used last summer by Prof. R. W. Wood of Baltimore is a 20-inch basin of mercury that on being rotated by a motor becomes a concave mirror of variable focus. A disadvantage is that the mirror must be kept horizontal. When the irregularities of running have been overcome so as to give the necessary steadiness, it is hoped to have a mirror 10 or 20 feet in diameter constructed for some sou hern station, where it can be used for photographing details of the planets as they pass directly overhead.

The freight airship of Prof. Schuette of Danzig, Prussia, is to be 310 feet long and 50 in diameter, with a skeleton of wood, and a car 120 by 12½ feet. Two gas engines of 150 horsepower each are expected to give a speed of 50 miles an hour, carrying a cargo of two tons or more, besides crew.

bicycle upright, causing a top to return to a covered. certain position after being disturbed, and giving to a soft iron disc the rotatory tension that enables it to cut through heavy armor plate. A behaves like sheet metal. A report of German experiments states that the cardboard can no longer be bent, and if struck with a hammer it emits a sound like that from bronze. Even paper acquires quite unusual properties. An 8 inch disc of good paper, perfectly circular, was placed on the shaft of an electric motor, and when rotated at the motor's highest speed it easily sawed through eigar-box wood. Centrifugal force may give many other curious effects. For example, a small chain may be fitted as a closed ring on a rotating drum in such a way that it can be slipped off when the dram reaches its highest speed, and the chain will then roll on a table like a solid ring and bounce up like a hoop on striking the ground.

Flapping wings thave, been tested in a small model by the Aeronautical Society of Great Britain. It was shown, R. F. Moore claims, that a horizontal thrust of 20 to 27 pounds can be obtained, a result far in excess of the 6 to pounds given by the propeller of Wilbur sleeves, or the waist is in last year's position, Wright. In the view of Mr. Moore, a true flier, with the flapping wings of nature, would be far superior to any "power kite" or "power gas-bag" for travelling in the air. It would be more independent of the weather conditions; more self-contained and capable of high speed. A demonstration is promised when the full-sized machine can be provided.

A kite station, with facilities for daily ascents. of kites or balloons under almost all weather conditions is the scientific novelty of the German 350 horse-power, capable of 19 knots, provides the means for making the ascents. To make a light wind effective, the vessel is run against it; and when a gale is blowing the force on the kite is reduced to safe working by running with the wind. The observations made are telegraphed daily to the chief forecasting offices.

torials in the Victoria Rifles, according to a new scheme which is to be tried this year for week in camp, is as follows: -

Reveille... 5,45 a.m. Parade ... Musketry or drill ... 7.30 a.m. Breakfast : ... Train to town (After breakfast the men go to their work, returning at night.) from 8 onward.

...10.45 p.m. The drill season of 1909 will be remarkable for some genuine experiments in utilising such spare time as Territorials can give for extra training. As already detailed metropolitan corps are to have a week end divisional camp, but, in addition to this, a notable innovation, is the one referred to above, which is to be regimentally tried by the Queen Victoria's Rifles (numerically the 9th Battalion County of London Regiment).

This famous battalion was on May 6 to open for the season a camp at Stanmore, in Middlesex, where, in turn, the eight companies of the corps -the old Victorias and Bloomsburys amalgamated-will be quartered for a week each. training is to be done in the early hours of the morning, and after breakfast the men will depart for London to follow their ordinary avocations, the majority being clerks and men who commence work about nine a.m. After business hours the men will return to the camp and discipline at Stanmore, ready for the next day's sunrise parade. y this means the men will have two hours' training before breakfast and a week's camp routine.

THE MISSING LINK

OLDEST HUMAN REMAINS FOUND NEAR HIEDELBERG.

The discovery of the complete skeleton of a man of the Neanderthal type in the caves Chapelle aux Saints, in the Dordogone, has excited considerable interest among thropologists, but now an even more important discovery has been made by a German scholar of remains undoubtedly human, which farexceed in antiquity any hitherto discovered.

For more than twenty years Mr. Scholensack has been engaged in the careful exploration of some large sand quarries about ten miles from Hiedelberg, in the hopes of finding human fossil remains. The long work has at last met with its reward. The place where the find was made is a large sandpit which passes through many geological strata, and at the depth of 78ft, the explorer was rewarded by the discovery of a perfect specimen of a hum in lower jaw in excellent preservation.

After passing through several strata the explorer came to one which from the number of boulders deposited clearly belonged to glacial period. Below this was a bed of conglomerate, composed of round stones budded tchalk, and in this was discovered, but a few feet from the base rock, the jaw in question-a remarkably well-preserved specimen,

A careful exploration of the strata revealed many remains of fauna contemporary with the man's presence. The stag (Cervus elephans), the cave bear, and the heaver, but no trace of the mammoth; but in place of this were found bones of the Elephans antiquus, as well as the remains of the rhinoceros and the horse, and many skulls. These deposits show that the interesting phenomena, such as keeping a between the pliocene and the lower quarter-

The teeth are complete, but the jaw presents many marked differences from other specimens hitherto found. In the first place, it has a marked resemblance to the jaw of a gorilla, and body of the specimen is shorter than that of gorilla, but the bones have an abnormal thickness. On the contrary, the teeth are in no way absolutely in accordance with the human type. The discoverer and those who have examined

FASHIONS AND FANCIES.

NOTHING TO WEAR.

This is the time of year when we look despairingly at the pegs in our wardrobes and the depressing things that hang on them, coming to the conclusion that we have positively nothing to wear. Winter clothes are impossible in this radiantspring sunshine. Summer garb is too thin, and demi-season gowns are wrong in the an inch or so too high. Short skirts, built last autumn, are not nearly short enough, now that the correct length shows the instep betraying its secret of the aristocratic arch or plebeian flatness. Even the rather smart blue serge acquired in Paris, in November has the wrong line at the back. Fashion changes desperately quickly nowadays, and still justifies the man who, having bought his wife a new hat, ran the whole way home with it lest the fashion should have changed before he got

THE PROBLEM SOLVED FOR SOME. It is easy for the full-pursed to solve the problem. All they have to do is to sally forth and secure something up-to-date from their favourite tailor or milliner, probably both. Their only difficulty is that of choice, and that is Choshun Maru, Japanese str., 1,303, T. greatly helped by the sound advice of the sartorial professors. They select a model to be copied for a tailor-made and choose the material. A racing coat is discussed in the same way; and a visit to the pot modiste results in the acquisition of a cool costume for mornings, a more elaborate one for afternoons and a ceremonious one for weddings and at homes.

BUT THEN THE OTHERS? However, it is not everybody who has a wellfilled purse, especially at this season of year, when fathers and husbands have just emerged The time-table for clerks serving as Terri- from the tax paying quarter with anomic balances at the bank. And how is the problem to be solved without that very agreeable possession, ready cash? It is managed by thousands and thousands of well-turned-out Englishwomen by the simple expedient of employing a home-dressmaker for a fortnight or three weeks, and placing in review before her the contents of the wardrobe, after having ascertained that her views on sleeves and waists; coats and skirts, are thoroughly up-to-date. True, the spare room will be a chaos of clothes during her stay, and the whole house will be strewn with pins and snippings, but as each gown emerges, renewed in youth and immuculately up-to-date. the owner says to herself triumphantly: "Something to wear at last!"

SOME FULLER SKIRTS. Until the last week or two skirts were to skimpy and tight that there was some danger of a return to the ugly tie backs of some fifteen years ago. But it is good news that a decided fulness has been decreed for skirts in such materials as fonlard, crepe-de-Chine, shuntung, tussore, ninon, voile, and the exquisite silk cashmere, one of the most perfect draping textures ever woven. Though the skirts fit closely on. the hips, the fulness is considerable in the long polonaises and square-cut tunics which are also a revival of a half-forgotten mode. A Nattier blue foulard with a white bloom upon it in the high lights is made with a semi-panier drapery which falls in a deep point at the back, the folds above the point held by a large resette of the material itself. The skirt below is very full and long all round.

THE WOODEN ARMS. The new sleeves are sufficiently full to take away the stick-like look of the arms in the very Colonel Tanquery, the commanding officer, tight ones that made them look like jointed commandant, with Lieutenant R. W. Cox as poplin tussore, has sleeves fully gathered, but acting adjutant and Sergeaut F. F. H. Trask | yet fully defining the arms, though allowing the for quartermaster's store duties. The collar is the nine o'clock train, taking 40 and 30 minutes in the satin, and is finished with the leather berries in the same way.

STUDIES IN HARMO'Y. It is by no means uncommon for a gown to be made to match a jewel or suited to the eyes and hair of the prospective wearer. Some of the pretty ladies who attend Mr. de Herter's concerts are said to have devised some charming gowns to harmonise with the unique and beautiful room in which they are given, the Persian hall built from the designs and under the direction of M. Dieulafoy, who excavated the ruins of -usa. The room is an exact reproduction to scale of the court of the garden of the King's palace mentioned in the Book of Esther, not only in form but in colour. Walls and pillars are tiled in pale tones of greenish-blue. How a true artist in dress would revel in the task of composing a charming toilette that would convey the idea of romantic ancient Persia combined with the exquisite music of the old Valentinus violin (Venetian school) on which Mr. de Herter is to interpret among other compositions the beautiful and seldom heard Seventh Sonata of Beethoven. What an ideal gown it would be!

THE HEADGEAR . F THE HOUR. As to millinery, one must either choose one of the aberrations of the moment, or be quite. out of it. The hats look very mad in the showrooms, and madder still on some heads, Still, there are degrees of eccentricity, and the purchaser may compromise by selecting a hat in the new chrysanthemum straw (looking like the petals of the flower very closely massed together, but often black or brown), which does not come down so far over the face as to cover both eyes "Might as well have no hair at all!" grumbled the owner of a lovely chestnut chevelure, surveying her reflection in a hat shaped like a small zine wash-tub, which completely hid the hair in front, at the back and on the right side, and formed an oblique line which kindly permitted one eye to guide the wearer in walking. "The strate was similar to that of the pre-glacial bed, right side?" someone will surely query. Yes! Centrifugal force is the active agent in some of Norfolk.
